The Brenner Group Appoints Vice President to Lead Clean Tech Practice

Former Chevron Executive Brings Renewable Energy Experience to Management

Cupertino, CA - February 23, 2009 - The Brenner Group®, Silicon Valley's leading provider of interim financial management, business valuations, and financial advisory services, announced today that Joseph A. Moran has been appointed Vice President for the firm's Interim Finance & Accounting Group and will lead the group's services in the Clean Tech sector.

"Joe is perfect to champion our Clean Tech practice and represent our Clean Tech services to the venture capital community," said Wes Rose, SVP, The Brenner Group. "He brings deep experience in fast growing private technology companies as well as in the energy sector. With the Obama administration's prioritization of Clean Tech, we look forward to further acceleration of investment in Clean Tech ventures, and these companies will need sound finance and accounting guidance."

Prior to joining The Brenner Group, Moran spent 18 years in various technology finance roles including CFO at Sybase, StepNexus, Telephia, Intraspect Software, and Calico Commerce. Additionally, Moran held various financial positions at Tandem Computers and spent 5 years in a variety of financial and trading positions at Chevron.

Moran received his Bachelor's degree from University of California, Berkeley and an MBA from the University of Chicago.
